Cerodo Advance.

The hats worn by the women of Augusta, this State, must be fearful and wonderfully made. They—the women—have petitioned the city council to compel the merchants to raise the awnings to the height of six and one half feet from the sidewalk, claiming that under existing conditions they could not wear their beautiful head gear.

it is said, trailed a man who has been

Ben, alias "Booker" Brame, a negro, 18 years of age, was lynched by a mob of between 200 and 300 farmers for attempting to assault Miss Ruth Gee, 17-year-old daughter of William Gee, a prominent Trigg county farmer.

After an all-night search, the mob located Brame, who was carried before the Misses Gee who positively identi fied. The mob carried Brame to Flat Lick, near the Trigg and Christian county line, and hanged him to a tree.

Bowling Green, Ky.—James T. Blew ett, of Woodburn, this county, sold to John Russell of Gallatin, Tenn., a pair of mules for $700, which is the highest price ever received for this class of livestock in the history of this county. The mules are four year old, sixteen hands high, and perfectly matched. The transactions in mules in this county have been very brisk this spring.

Lexington, Ky.—The Hon. Charles J.
Bronston, former State Senator, chair man of Democratic City and County Executive Committee, and one of the leaders of his party in Lexington and Fayette county, died at his home in this city at an early hour Thurs day morning death resulting from a heart attack.

Col. Bronston had been in the best of health up to within a few hours of his death and shortly after he was stricken yesterday afternoon he rallied and expressed the belief that his line would not prove serious and that he would be out to-day.

Shortly after midnight, however, he was stricken again while talking with his physicians and members of his family and expired instantly.

He was born in Richmond, Madison county, July 27, 1848, and was for many years Commonwealth's Attorney of the judicial district composed of Madison, Clark, Bourbon, Fayette, Woodford, Scott and Jessamine coun ties, and when Fayette county was made a separate district he was elec ted to the same office.

That "Love laughs at locksmiths," will ever hold true. Ray Turner, an efficient postmaster and Miss Virginia Conley, daughter of James Haden Con ley, a prosperous farmer residing in Rock House, near Paintsville, had in a quiet way made several unsuccessful attempts to get married but the father stood in the way. Recently Miss Conley, (now Mrs. Turner) en tered the Sandy Valley Seminary and boarded in the dormitory. The lovers met frequently and planned to get married. Mr. Turner obtained the proper credentials from County Clerk Claude Buckingham, Thursday night. Friday morning about 4:30 Miss Conley left the dormitory and met Mr. Turner on Third street. They went to the residence of Rev. Ros coe Murray and awoke him from his slumbers and made known their dis son. Rev. Murray is a member of the faculty of the Seminary and not be ing informed concluded it best to call up Prof. Skinner, the principal of the Seminary, and get his ad vice. In the meantime the lovers became suspicious and not caring to take any further risk hastily left the Murray residence and went to the Conley House where Rev. Burns Con ley was aroused from his slumbers and in a very few minutes they were made one.

For more than four hours the Demo cratic members of the Senate ferred on tariff legislation. At the end of that time it was announced that they had agreed to support an in come tax amendment and to stand ules and particularly for a decrease Forest fires are not infrequent in this section and as a result much fencing and timber has been de stroyed.

Mrs. John L. Patterson, who recent ly underwent an operation at a Louis ville hospital, is improving nicely and will soon be able to leave her room.

John Wallace, brother-in-law of James Brown of this city and cousin to Miss Cora Brown, was killed Thursday while working in the mines at Wilton, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Brown left for Wilton Thursday afternoon to attend the funeral.

Detective Dan Price returned from Frankfort the latter part of last week, bringing with him two fine blood hounds, which he purchased at that place. The hounds are well trained and are fine specimens of the canine class. Mr. Price is now prepared to make it hot for criminals and his service can always be obtained.

Ashley Ward, W. D. Vaughan and H. S. Howes, who own the Pullman farm near Fuget, this county, the same consisting of about one thousand acres have laid it off into smaller tracts and will put the farms on the market. This is a very valuable tract of land and the owners will not experience any trouble in dispos ing of the farms as divided.

The Fiscal Court in session last week purchased from the Ballard Pres ton heirs and from John W. Wheeler, a forty foot road from the bend in the depot road at Ison Danley's res idence in East Paintsville to the C & O. track at the mouth of Palm Creek. The salt well branch will be filled and a big fill made. This is a badly needed road and will prove a great convenience to the traveling public. The new roadway will be con structed at once.

Paintsville Lodge No. 288, F. O. U.
F. will give a big blow out Friday night April 23. A number of em ulphates are to be initiated and fol lowing the ceremonies a swell ban quet will be given at one of the leading hotels in this city. The oc casion is looked forward to with great interest and as the Odd Fel lows never do anything by halves it is safe to predict that the event will be one of the big things in Paintsville. On Sunday morning, the 18th, Rev. A. A. Shuler will deliv er a sermon on Old Fellowship at the Southern Methodist Church and the lodge in uniform, will attend in a body.

Owensboro, Ky.—When Mrs. W. W.
Frellue of No. 1224 Venable avenue walked into her sitting room early Wednesday she was horrified to dis cover her 21-months-old daughter, Marlan, sitting on the floor playing with a large snake which had some way managed to get into the house.
The reptile was coiled around the child's wrist, and was swinging its head back and forth as the little one playfully stroked its scaly hide.

The mother quickly grabbed the snake by the back of the head, deav ing it with difficulty from the long wrist, throwing it out of an open win dow. Upon examination by a physician, the child was found to be unhurt.
The snake is thought to be what is known as a "Milk" snake, which is non-poisonous.

Pedro S. Estella, the champion but ter Jersey cow of the world is dead at the Missouri Agricultural College farm at Columbia, Mo.

In twelve months she produced 112 pounds of butter, fully 100 pounds more than her nearest competitor, Estella was in good health, but fell into a ditch and was unable to get out. When aid reached her she was too far gone to recover.

The university statistician figured that the income from Estella for one year would keep an average stu dent in the University of Missouri for a like term.

Joel Payne, a negro, was hanged in Bedford City, Va., for the murder of Ired Swain, his father-in-law, a year ago. He was convicted before the electrocution law went into effect.

Gov. Charles N. Haskell, of Okla homa, and the six other men indicted by the Federal grand jury charged with fraud in Muskogee town lots, will not have to stand trial. The motion of the defendants to quash the indictments was upheld by Judge John A. Marshall in the United States Circuit Court.

F. Marlan Crawford, the novelist, is dead at S. Trento, Italy, after a long illness. He was born in 1854.

Owingsville, Ky.—Five people were hurt, two perhaps fatally, in a gen eral fight in the Polkville section at this county, five miles east of here.
The fight occurred at the Cline home and is said to have been caused by a lot of whiskey which was in the house.
All the fighters were said to have been drunk. When the quarrel arose and the Cline united forces against the two Mayes boys and in a few moments all were using knives and rocks.

In discussing a recent killing in Les lie county, Editor Chappell, of the Hy dra Thunderssticks, points out that such acts of lawlessness injure the whole country and depreciate the val ue of all property in that section. He says:

One man killed, two wounded and two mules killed, was the result of a drunken row up on Cuthbert last Sun day evening. Very little of the de tails of the killing, all who were en gaged in it have not been learned. The only thing that has been learned is what happened and that the people engaged in the row had about twelve gallons of booze and were reeling. What they thought was a pool time.

We had occasion only last week to call attention to acts of this kind. It is a good many times like this that on Cuthbert, and in a very nice way pointed out to the people the grave danger of the loss of life and property they were running. One question in our minds does it pay to call attention to the good citizens constantly to such episodes. If there is a good citizen in Leslie county that feels he has something to say that will work materially in stopping such conduct it has been going on we will be glad to hear from him. It is sure sign that we call a halt and make a change for the better.

There is a cause and effect. The cause is known to us all; the effect is felt by a few directly and the whole country indirectly. That is why there is such little effort made by the peo ple to stop such doings. If every cit izen could feel that the acts up on C uthbert went down in his pockets and de preciated the value of his property, he would be more likely to raise a pro test. Well it does. It knocks value out of citizenship, it knocks the value off of property, it lowers our position in the estimation of the public and drains capital away that probably might invest with us and gives the people of the mountains a name that is hard to disprove.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

A Column Dedicated To Them
As They Join The Home At Evening Tide.

Leave your homes with loving words, they may be your last.

Love is the best and strongest thing on earth, but Impatience can kill it.

Speak kindly, it encourages the downcast, cheers the sorrowing and often wakens the erring to earnest resolves to do better.

Parents are indebted to their children for the constant incentive to noble living; for the perpetual reminder that you do not live in yourself alone; for their sakes you are admonished to put from you the dross, the basing appetite, the unworthy example of impulse; to gather into your lives every noble and heroic quality; every tender and attractive grace.

For a home to be a home in the highest sense of the word, and not merely a place to sleep and eat, each member of the family must contribute his or her share. There must be forbearance, sympathy and love. A great deal depends on the parents. They should in the early childhood of their children teach them to make the home the dearest place on earth. The aged live more in the past than the present. Their reveries are principally of their boyhood and girlhood. How necessary then that the days be made happy, that their erries may give them pleasure. If not a perfect home where the innuhold themselves aloof, it is where the guest is ever welcome, where friends delight to come and go again. Those that shut themselves from the world become selfish and narrow minded. It requires interchange of thought to expand the mind. And what is more delightful than the happy interchange of thought between friends in a quiet home.

o o o

Kindness is one of the purest traits that finds a place in the human heart. It gives us friends that never we may chance to wander. To show kindness it is not necessary we give large sums of money or to perform some wonderful deed that will immortalize your name. It is a word of sympathy to the discouraged and disheartened. Kindness makes sunshine wherever it goes; it is the real law of life; the link that connects earth with heaven. Would you live in the remembrance of others after you are gone? Write your name on the tablets of their hearts in acts of kindness and love. The noblest revenge we can make upon our enemies is to do them some kindness.

O O O

It is extempore, and seems to be natural, for blessings to brighten as they take their flight. The hour of joy that was yesterday's portion, brief and humble though it may have been, becomes of a less hue and four-fold importance when viewed in the flattering lights of retrospection. Countless numberless are chanting the burden of the tender hymn:

"Backward, turn backward, O Time, In thy flight, Make me a child again just for a night."

And to many the desire is prompted by visions of lost opportunities and misspent lives ever recurring theme, "It might have been," which tells the history in brief, of many life-time mistakes common to us all as we repeat words with a sigh, realizing all too late, our former blindness and

GARDNER ACQUITTED.

Magoffin County Young Man Cleared of Charge of Murder in San Francisco.

Engene Gardner, of Magoffin, and who is connected with several promi nent Kentucky families, was ac quitted last Wednesday afternoon of the charge of having murdered Joseph Cardoza, colored boat steerer, of the whaler Bowhead, who was killed while the vessel was in the Arctic Ocean.

The jury was out over twenty-two hours. Gardner's plea was self-de fense. This was the second trial in the Circuit Court, the former jury having disagreed.

The trial of Gardner was one of the most remarkable ever witnessed in the Federal Court of San Francisco.
Crowded with fashionable folk, in cluding many ladies and many Ken tuckians visiting the State, the story of the tragedy was unfolded amid breathless interest. The case was up hill for the attorneys from the Blue grass State, as they had little time to prepare the defense, while United States District Attorney Robert Dev lin and his assistants had worked out the details of the prosecution for many months, but they made a val iant fight with clear portrayal of the facts surrounding the killing, and were soon confronting the State from various points of vantage.

Young Gardner was denounced as a young hoodlum who had wantonly killed a harmless negro in a cowardly raider, and his hanging was pre dicted as fit punishment. But when the attorneys from his home State jumped into the breach and explained things as they really were public sentiment changed to sympathy for the Kentucky lad among strangers, who had removed a worthless life to save his own in obedience to the primal law of self-preservation.

The Hon. W. A. Young proved a revelation to the California court as the Kentucky attorney of to-day.
His eloquence and tactics differed from those of the California lawyer, and the contrast attracted judge and jury from the commencement. Inst of vehement declamation of innocence and explosive denunciations of adverse tes timony and wild oratorical clamor ings for an acquittal, as was expected by the court in his argument for the defense, he adopted simple, calm temperate methods, combining cold logic with confidential heart-to heart talk to the jury, and, before he was half way through, the jurors were manifestly captivated by the spell of his magnetism, seeing things as they really happened on the whaler when Gardner and the negro ended their differences. Young's closing appeal for the defense left nothing unsaid and little to be said by Dis trict Attorney Devlin, who followed for the prosecution, and whose rhet orical reviewing of the case for the State failed to break the spell.

"This young son of Kentucky struck that negro to save his own life," declared Young. "It was an elementary act of self defense. At ter being beaten into insensibility once by this black assailant, it was perfectly natural that Gardner seeing Cardoza coming after him with an uplifted hammer would protect him self even if he had to slay. There is not a contemptible snake crawl that is not provided with a weapon of self defense. This was nothing but self defense, and we will stand on that plea."
Gardner started for Kentucky es soon as he was discharged from custody.

CURES INDIGESTION

Distress from Stomach and Indi gestion Vanishes in Five Minutes.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it indigestion, dyspepsia, gas tritis or catarrh of stomach, it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Fapo's Dipepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is food fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become af fected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, ner vousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and noth ing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel gloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all that there is but one cause—fermen tation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you eat without fear of discomfort or ill.

Almost instant relief comes to you. It is merely a 50-cent case of Fapo's Dipepsin and you are well soon you take a little.

Statement From George Carter.

I desire to say to the Democrats of Lawrence that though beaten I am not one bit disfigured. I am still a Democrat and will so remain to the end of the chapter. I came within fourteen votes of being nominated for Circuit Clerk. This is a victory in itself, to get so many votes in a race with good men. Don't think for an instant that "Frisky" bears any grudge against either my late opponent or those who voted for them. You exercised the inalienable right of a free born citizen to vote as you pleased. You did no more than I did myself. I heartily thank those who voted for me in the late primary and shall not soon forget you. My successful opponent has my congratulations, and he and the remainder of the Democratic ticket will get my vote and influence next November.

Geo. E. Carter.

FARM NEWS.

A Spring Nip.

The spring nip is awful tempting, but somewhat treacherous so far as an increase of milk is concerned. Putting cows on a watery grass too early gradually results in the loss of milk. Cows should especially not be kept too long on young grass at one time.

Don't be in haste to get the cows on pasture. It pays to feed hay till the grass is well started and vigorous. It is also better for the pasture not to be grazed down so early. By getting a good start it holds better through the season. So for different reasons, it is better to keep your cows on roughage until the grass and clover crops are well advanced.

Butter Pats.

The butter calf must be fed for milk production if she is to be a better row than her mother.

April or May is the best time to have the calf born. Grass and the calf seem naturally suited to grow together. Yet there are good reasons for fall calves.

Boil your churn chokes frequently. Washing them in warm water is not sufficient.

The cow is like a bank—whatever you draw out must first be put in, according to your feed must the milk be.

Don't fill the churn too full. Have your churn half full and you will get through sooner than with it two-thirds full.

Want of cleanliness and diseased animals make infected milk. The stable, the cows and the milker should be perfectly clean.

The first milk from the cow is required by the calf for digestion. It is called colostrum and is a mild laxative.

Raising the Calf.

In the old days when there was but little call for the dairy products nobody thought of raising a calf by hand or on skim-milk. It was given the contents of one or two teats from its mother and then yanked off by the ear into the calf lot.

Now, butter fat is worth too much to waste to the calf, and they do say that a calf lives about as well on skim-milk. This was once thought impossible, but necessity converts us almost any belief.

Taking the calf from its mother varies greatly in practice. Some let it suck till the milk is fit to save. Others take it away at once, but this is wrong. It should remain at least one or two days for the sake of its own good health.

However, the sooner the calf is trained to drink its milk the easier it will learn. Calves that are not started off right in this way often give much trouble. Stealing the finger up through the milk and into the mouth helps the calf to get a start.

The calf that comes in the spring has an advantage, for it soon learns to nip grass and thus takes food to greater satisfaction all through the day.

Thoughts by a Cow.

I wonder if my master knows how much more good, rich milk I could give each morning if I had a big delicious supper every evening. If he did, I believe he would give it to me, for he likes to make money, and I am sure that would be the way to make it.

There are many things that our masters do not seem to know. One is that it always pays to feed us well. We cannot make milk out of air or old wheat straw. The richer the food we eat, the richer the milk we can give. That seems like a plain proposition, even to a cow. And yet, many cow masters surely don't see it, else they would act differently.

There is another thing that our masters ought to know, when it seems they don't. They ought to know that it takes a good deal of food to keep us in proper condition and supply the natural waste that takes place in our bodies. So, if we are poorly fed, there is little or nothing left to be used in making milk and butter.

I believe, too, that our stalls ought to be kept cleaner. When I got up to be milked this morning I was more or less covered with filth. How anybody could get pure, clean milk from me under the circumstances is more than I can tell. Cow as I am, I don't think I should like to drink it myself.

This Being the Season for Planting Potatoes and Other Things.

It will be of interest to farmers, suburbanites and others who indulge in these practices to know that there is nothing in the current superstition about planting potatoes in the dark of the moon and similar pieces of fable lore which have been accepted as gospel truth from time immemorial. This is the dictum of the Department of Agriculture, which made a serious study of the moon superstition and laid the Luna wreath at least to its own satisfaction, says the Washington Star.

There is usually a basis in fact for any superstition, and the moon superstition was so deep-rooted that a number of the experts of the department while going up and down in the land made it their business to study the question and see whether there might not be a germ of truth, or at least, some reason for the general belief that the moon's phases have an effect on the animal and vegetable life. They have concluded after patient investigation that the moon myth is one of the comparatively few myths that dates back to pure savagery and has absolutely no scientific leg to stand on.

Almost every one, even if he was not reared in the country, has heard of the idea about planting potatoes in the dark of the moon. The field workers of the Department of Agriculture have found that at least 75 per cent of the farmers of this enlightened country put in their rows and do a great many other things about the farm governed absolutely by the moon's phases. Almost any farmer will tell you that if you plant potatoes in the dark of the moon they will run to tubers, and if in the light of the moon they will run to tops. This is said to be true of any root crop, and it is planted accordingly.

There is only one difficulty about this theory and that is that it is not so. The agricultural experiment stations all over the country have been defying the superstitions for years and raising just as good crops when the moon was one way as when it was the other.

In the same way calving and the dropping of lambs and foals is popularly supposed to be governed by the phases of the moon. Needless to remark this superstition is on the same side of the Agricultural Department ledger as the potato theory. Many farmers govern the weaning of calves by the signs of the zodiac. They will tell you in all seriousness if a calf is weaned when the sign is in the head it will bellow for its mother. On the other hand, if it is weaned when the sign is in the feet it will run after its mother, but will not follow.

As a compromise after smashing so many of these time honored ideas the department admits that there is some basis in reason for some of the other country superstitions, principally those relating to the weather.

It is said that if it rains Easter Sunday that it will rain for seven Sundays thereafter. Now the fact is that rains come as a rule with great cyclonic disturbances of the atmosphere that are about a week in point of time from edge to edge where the rain is. Thus, if it strikes a rainy streak and there is a rain Easter Sunday it is quite possible that there will be rain on the following Sunday, and it might very easily happen at this season of the year that there would be another rain-laden cyclonic movement in a week which would bring another rain a week after.

There is another superstition very prevalent in this part of the country that if the sun shines while it is raining it will be sure to rain the next day. This is very apt to happen, for if a big mass of cumulus clouds is caught in the midst of the rain belt it may easily drop a little local shower while the sun is shining, while the real rain is a good way off.

has also some foundation, in fact. Most rains come from the west, and if there is a rainbow while the sun is that side of the meridian it is an indication that the rain is coming. If the rainbow is in the evening it is an indication that the rain has gone past.

Hints for Stock Owners

Change the straw in the pig pen often in cold, wet weather. Anything but a wet, half-frozen bed to lie in, even for pigs.

If any of your hogs are getting crooked legs you may be sure that they are in too cramped quarters. Give them more room to walk around in, especially on the ground.

For a spring tonic add a little oil-meal to the grain ration. Start in this spring with a pair of scales, tully sheets and a Babcock test.

Remember that the cows are tender from having been shut up in the barn so long, and do your best to shield them from the hard March winds.

Every ewe should be put in a place by herself until the lamb is about eight days old.

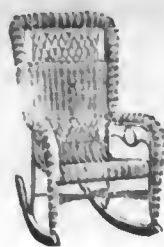

Lambfed grain before weaning will be ready for market four weeks before lambs receiving no grain before weaning.

A young lamb will soon become chilled if it gets away from its dam, and often she will not own it when it is put back.

Don't feed moldy corn to horses. It is extremely dangerous.

Give a handful of oil-meal to the horse once a day. It is good for him and keeps him in good condition, and makes his coat soft and sleek.

Fit all collars carefully. It is torture to a horse to pull a heavy load in a collar so large that it rubs or so small that it interferes with breathing.

When a horse comes in wet, tired and dirty, scrape him, straighten his hair, cover him up warm, roll thick bandages on his legs and let him rest and steam out. Very few men know how to "cool out" a horse properly. External coolness is not enough for safety. The circulation must be regular, and the temperature normal, before the animal can be put away safely for the night.

Obituary.

On Monday night March 15th at nine o'clock, death knocked at the home of Luther Giles and from this home little eleven year old Clara Giles, one of the dearest little blue eyed curly haired saubons God in all his and mess has permitted mort d man to leave for his own, was taken. Clara was was mother's joy and papa's delight. Was grand mother's and grand father's choice from the three little brothers and one sister. But pneumonia fast and its deadly grip upon this frail little form and with all that willing hands and loving hearts could do to keep this precious jewel a little longer was done. But God in his wisdom saw best to call Clara to that heavenly Jerusalem to which she came. Clara's eleven years were filled with more suffering than usually falls to the lot of a child, yet it only added to her sweet winsome ways. She has reached that land where all tears are wiped away, and pain and sorrow are unknown. The funeral was preached at Webbville by the Rev. French Rice, to a large audience. The house was beautifully decorated in green and white beier where the casket rested was wrapped in white. Six of her little girl friends acted as pall bearers and all were dressed in white. We can only point these that mourn for Trixie, in the 14th chapter of St John, and say weep no more for Trixie, for she is far happier than those left behind.

At the recent term of the Wayne county court, the salary for circuit clerk was fixed at $300, assessor at $200, and sheriff at $300. The salary for the county clerk and prosecuting attorney is yet to be determined by the court.

Last Friday evening late a shooting affray occurred at Tom Run on a blacksmith shop on Pond creek, the principals being Constable T. J. Trent and Dave Howell, formerly special constable at the Thacker Coal & Coke Co. in this county. As far as we can gather the facts are they are about as follows: Both of the gentlemen referred to had been in Williamson this same day, and had previously had some disagreement, supposedly over politics. When Trent came by the blacksmith shop that evening Howell was there and a fight came out and had some words with him. It doesn't appear that either man had anticipated the trouble to but in the course of the altercation, Howell pulled Trent off his horse and came him down. The latter in the meanwhile drew a pistol and fired twice, the second shot taking effect in Howell's leg near the groin, inflicting a flesh wound. Howell did not have a pistol. Dr. York was called and cut out the bullet. The wound is not very serious.

The three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Workman, was found dead in bed last Wednesday morning. The child had been ill for several days, and it is supposed it took a spasm during the early morning hours.

The remains were taken to Echo, Wayne county and interred. According to advices, United States District Attorney Elliott Northcott, at Lexington, is not disposed to resign his present office in order to become Minister to Peru or Columbia. The President has offered a position in the diplomatic service in the United States, and it was placed at the disposal of Mr. Northcott. The latter has declined the offer and is now under consideration and in the hands of the State Department. It is likely that he will be appointed to the position of Minister to Peru or Columbia.

Another Whirlwind Campaign.

The second whirlwind campaign for education in Kentucky will be launched June 27 and last through July 3. State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. G. Crabbe announced that plans are being made for the most vigorous assault upon the entrenched ramparts of ignorance in the Commonwealth that has ever been made since Kentucky was admitted to the Union. The sum of $5,000 is to be spent during the week of the campaign, and not a penny will come out of the pockets of the taxpayers, it being furnished by the Southern Educational Board and by individuals who are interested in the work of bringing Kentucky to the front in its educational work.

Plans for the great campaign which is to be urged are yet in the formative stage. Supt. Crabbe says that there will be fifty-five Kentucky speakers and five from other states, while on the list of workers there will be 119, or one from each county in the State. Not only will the speaking be done by workers in the educational ranks, but leaders in other walks of life, legal, professional and statesmen have consented to take part in the big movement.

Each of the sixty main speakers will cover two counties, while there will be a special educational rally day for each county, when the subject of better education for the coming generation will be hammered home morning, noon and night. The people will be invited to come, bring their dinners in baskets and stay all day, then the work will be carried into the rural communities and nothing overlooked that will bring this important matter straight to the people.

Splendid results were accomplished in the first campaign of this kind which was waged last fall. The campaign cost about $1,500, and that will not be a strict comparison to the $5,000 campaign which will cover the State in the second effort. Superintendent Crabbe says that a coming campaign will be inaugurated Sunday, with the pulpits empty, each minister of the gospel being asked to call the attention of the people to whom he talks to the great work which is being undertaken.

People Breathe Bad Air.

"In two-thirds of the schools of this county the children are sitting in rooms the windows of which are nailed shut," said Dr. Luther H. Gulick in the last lecture on "The Public Care of Children" at the Colony Club. "Fresh air is as necessary for the development of vitality in the normal child as it is for the cure of a tuberculous one, yet while open air schools are being built for tuberculous children, and are proving that education in the open air can be a success, in our regular school children must sit and breathe in foul air."

"I admit that ventilation is a problem in the congested parts of Manhattan. If there's a lot of dust and noise in the streets it is a question whether the windows had better be open. But the great proportion of school are where the air is good, and why their window should be shut no one can tell."

Getting healthful conditions in school, Dr. Gulick said, was a question of educating public opinion. "We must get wisdom and act as communities; individually we are helpless," he said. "The individual parent can't better conditions by going to the school principal. I've been a school principal, and I know."

"Parents not infrequently are the worst drawbacks in the way of the child's development. They want their children loaded down with work, want them to bring home a lot of books from school so they won't get into mischief." Speaking of the way home study is overdone, Dr. Gulick said he once spent some time investigating the weight of the books children carry back and forth every day. "I found one small girl," he said, "carrying twenty-two blank pads in addition to her books. It seems the height of the pile showed the grade she was in, and her grade established her social status. She was establishing her social status."

Reports differ as to the damage to fruit by the frosts and freezes of last week. The Lexington Herald says:

Notwithstanding the fact that the frosts and freezes of the past week caught many fruit trees of this section of the country in full blossom and despite the fact that a shortage in the apple crop is predicted because of the extreme drought of last fall, when the apple buds were forming a fairly good fruit yield is expected.

The apple trees in most places will bear if no future freezes strike them, and inasmuch as the cold weather of last week was not accompanied by rains, it is thought that many of the peaches escaped.

A telephone message from H. P. Hillemeier, one of the most eminent authorities in the South on horticulture, gave the gratifying information that the weather had not been cold enough nor the frost sufficient to kill the fruit, the prospects are that, unless a subsequent freeze destroys the tiny buds, the possibility of a good fruit crop in Kentucky was never better.

Robbed of his death mate, Will Green, by an order from Gov. Wilson commuting his sentence from that of death to imprisonment for life in the penitentiary. Will Carter, colored, walked to the gallows in the yard of the Jefferson county jail Friday morning smiling.

Three minutes after he had set foot on the steps leading to the gallows the binch hood had been pinned over Carter's head and the rope had been hite around his neck and he was dropped through the trap door at 5:59 o'clock.

The crime for which Carter paid the penalty was for the killing of Joseph Walker on May 20, 1907. Walker was a yard foreman in the Meigs Box Co. where Carter was employed, and had remonstrated with the negro on account of some dereliction of duty, threatening to have him discharged. A few hours later, according to the testimony brought out at the trial, the negro walked out and without a moments warning, dealt the white man a blow over the head with a club with such terrific force that the brains of the unfortunate man were splattered in a book which he held open in his hands. A pencil clutched in the hands of the dying man proved his defenseless condition when murdered.

Lexington, Ky., April 15.—The death of Prof. R. N. Roark in the State hospital caused much sorrow among the faculty and students of the Kentucky State University and in the colleges and schools of this State. The large circle of personal friends formed during his long life here and will be received with grief and sorrow by thousands of teachers throughout the State who have known his pupils as well as by those on educational questions in the South. Prof. Roark was universally considered one of the strongest and most ardent advocates of education in Kentucky. His death is unquestionably a great loss to the school system of the State. He had devoted his entire life to the promotion of education and his influence had extended beyond the confines of the Commonwealth. He had all of the essential qualities of a great teacher and with his ability to communicate his enthusiasm to all those who came under his teaching in the normal school of the State made an impression on the education in Kentucky which has possibly been accomplished by no other man.

Kelly Stewart, Jr., the 8-year-old son of Kelly Stewart, of Fullerton, Greenup county, fell from the ferry-boat at Fullerton, Sunday, and was drowned. Up to last accounts the body had not been recovered.

James Venters, a most prominent citizen of Pike county who has been so low of typhoid fever, and who was thought to have been steadily improving for a few days, took a sudden turn for the worse, and died late Thursday afternoon, at his home at The Forks.

The judgment of the Carter Circuit Court in the case of Van Gipsen against Commonwealth was affirmed the whole court sitting Gipsen was convicted of manslaughter in the killing of one Elmer Jones and sent to the State Penitentiary for twenty-one years.

Whitesburg, Ky., April 14.—During the severe winds of last midnight the residence of Charles Collins eldest of police here, caught fire, the family having to flee in their night clothes. By heroic efforts in which two-thirds of the population assisted adjoining buildings were saved, otherwise much of the town would have been burned out.

Bob Nickell, who was arrested the last week by U. S. Marshal Steve Rose on a charge of moonshining, and placed in the Olive Hill lock-up to await his trial which was set for last Monday, was attacked by a stroke of apoplexy at ten o'clock Saturday and died at 12:30 Saturday night. The report that he had small-pox was unfounded.—Olive Hill Times.

Will T. Bailey, a son of Mr. and formerly of Pikeville, died Sunday after but a week's illness from typhoid-memorial. Young Bailey, Mrs. J. M. Bailey, of Huntington, but who was 16 years of age was an usher at the Huntington Theatre, and also connected with the circulation department of The Herald-Dispatch. The body was taken to Pikeville for interment.

One of the most daring hold-ups that has occurred in this city for some time occurred last night shortly after 9 o'clock, when Deputy Sheriff Ennis Baxtons of McComas district was knocked down and relieved of money and other valuables amounting in the aggregate to something like $1000.

The robbery occurred on Ninth street, between Fourth and College avenues, in the plain store of the electric lights.—Huntington Herald.

A float of logs of white oak passed down Kentucky river last Saturday for Cincinnati to be shipped by rail to Quebec and thence to Liverpool. It was used for ocean liners and the interior of English battle ships. Although the float was not a large one, it was valued at $75,000.

Russell was blessed with a series of meetings under the direction of Miss Jennie Smith, the traveling evangelist last week. These meetings were a great success, and many railroads joined the church. At a meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. there were four engineers united with the church, and at the meeting held at the M. E. Church South several more accepted Christ. Much praise is due Miss Smith, and the good work should go on, as every railroad man should belong to some church. The public feels safer riding with a Christian crew than otherwise. It is hoped that the men who have made the start may never turn back.—Russell Democrat.

On last Saturday morning about two miles east of Olive Hill, Mrs. Millie Jarvis, who lives on a farm some distance from any other family, and whose husband works at the rock crusher about a mile from his home, together with her little son Maxey were burned to death in a horrible manner. Mrs. Jarvis, who lived long enough after the terrible event to tell how it happened, says that she left her little boy, who was about four years old, snoring on the porch while she went into the garden a few minutes to uncover a sweet potato bed and that she had been gone but a few minutes when the little boy who had gone back into the house ran out screaming with his clothes on fire, when she ran to him as quickly as possible only to get her own clothes ignited in trying to extinguish the flames and before resistance could reach them they were both burned into a crisp, every stitch of clothing being consumed.—Olive Hill Times.

In Memory.

In memory of a loving daughter Mrs. Jennie Cyrus, who died April 16, 1908.

One long and weary year of sadness and sorrow has come and gone since death parted me and my dear daughter, but memory has never failed to give her endearing thoughts of my heart's warmest love and devotion for her. A kind daughter, loving mother and a true friend she was honored and respected by all who knew her.

Col. Patten, Lieutenant in the Old Guard, an exclusive organization composed of soldiers of distinction who fought in the Civil War, very popular in secret society circles, recommends the famous remedy, Peru-na, as a spring tonic.

famous remedy, Peru-na, as a spring tonic.

"I have used Peru-na, and desire to recommend your remedy as an invigorating Spring tonic, also one of the best remedies that I ever tried for coughs, colds and catarrhal complaints."

Having read the above testimonial, what conclusion must be reached by any fair-minded, unprejudiced reader?

Is there any possibility that a man of the prominence and reputation of Col. Patten could be induced to say such things if he did not honestly believe them to be true?

Remember, he says not only that he recommends Peru-na as an invigorating spring tonic, but also as one of the best remedies that he has ever tried for coughs, colds and catarrhal complaints.

What are you going to do with such evidence? Are you going to turn away from it and listen only to the talk of people who probably never saw a bottle of Peru-na, certainly never tried a bottle of it, who have nothing else to do but to talk about other people's affairs? Are you going to listen to such people as that instead of accepting the testimony of those who know?

There may be a few people so constituted as to be able to perform such a mental feat. But the sensible people, the reliable people, the drawn and brain of the world, who are governed by principles of justice and common sense, are going to accept the clear, pointed and undoubted testimony of a man of national reputation who knows what he is talking about.

Peru-na is everything he says it is. It is an invigorating spring tonic. It is also a good remedy for coughs. We have many testimonials attesting to this fact. Peru-na is manufactured by the Peru-na Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio.
